Dear Ido Sivan-Sevilla,

On behalf of the Center for Long-Term Cybersecurity, we are pleased to invite you to attend and participate in Cyber Resilience Corps' first Cyber Volunteering Day on Thursday, October 23, 2025. The event will be held at Union South on the University of Wisconsin, Madison campus.

This invitation only event will bring together leading public interest cybersecurity researchers and leaders from cyber volunteering organizations to participate in a series of interactive workshops, where participants will: 1) Share best practices for cyber volunteering programs to effectively serve community organizations, 2) and improve cyber maturity at scale for infrastructure in high-risk and vulnerable communities across the US.

We believe that your research, measuring the size and severity of the integrated cyber attack surface across US county governments, would enrich the discussions and provide valuable perspectives to our attendees.

Thank you for your time and consideration. We hope to have the privilege of welcoming you to Cyber Volunteering Day and look forward to the possibility of your participation.

Sincerely,

Grace Menna
